

If you're interested in how drugs are formulated to combat disease

Pharmacy

You could have a career in...

- Community pharmacy
- Drug discovery
- Formulation
- Clinical trials
- Patents
- Regulatory affairs
- Medical journalism
- Hospital pharmacy
- Primary care

“ Everyone I have come across during my five years at Huddersfield have been supportive and encouraging. Graduating from the University of Huddersfield feels like I am leaving a family behind!

— Farwah Bukhari, graduated Pharmacy MPharm 2016, Pre-Registration Trainee Pharmacist - Brighton & Sussex University Hospitals NHS Trust

If you're interested in the processes behind life

Biological Sciences

You could have a career in...

- Medical research
- The NHS
- Molecular sciences
- The pharmaceutical industry
- Medical writing
- Medical genetics and counselling

“ I feel the tutors at Huddersfield are very professional and supportive with great academic abilities which makes learning very enjoyable.

— Reece Dowling, graduated Biochemistry BSc(Hons) 2016, now MSc student at the University of Montreal, Canada

If you want to use science to help the justice system

Forensic Science

You could have a career in...

- Crime scene investigation
- Forensic pathology
- DNA analysis
- Toxicology analysis
- Forensic technology
- Forensic entomology
- Bloodstain pattern analysis
- Clothing damage analysis
- Forensic anthropology

“ Studying for my degree has given me a lot of hands on experience working in a laboratory environment, giving me the skills required to work in a professional laboratory.

— Olivia Smith, graduated Forensic and Analytical Science BSc(Hons) 2016, now Analyst for Covance Laboratories

If you're fascinated by how things are put together from atomic level

Chemistry and Chemical Engineering

You could have a career in...

- Chemical manufacturing
- Pharmaceutics
- Environmental consultancy
- Oil and gas
- Nuclear engineering
- Process plant troubleshooting

“ If you have the desire and the work ethic, the University of Huddersfield will meet you half way with the facilities and the people to help you realise your utmost dreams.

— Joe Mwansa, graduated Pharmaceutical Chemistry MSci 2016, now PhD student at the University of Huddersfield

Interested in a career in science?